

AUTO DRIVER SAID TO BE FROM RICHMOND

Is Charged With Running Into Inmate of Masons' Home and Causing Death

A man, who is reported to be from Richmond, but whose identity has not been disclosed as yet, is said to face indictment on a very serious charge by the Shelby county grand jury. The Shelby News contained a story of the affair, but without mentioning the name of the man, but a grapevine report comes that he is a well known Madison man. Further developments will be awaited with interest in the case. Here's what the Shelbyville paper says:

Tully Choice, a native of McCracken county, and one of the best known men at the Old Masons' Home, suffered fatal injuries last Wednesday evening when he was struck by a Ford automobile driven by a man whose name was under the influence of liquor. Both legs were broken and his head was almost torn from his head. He lingered until Saturday night at 8:20 when death relieved his suffering. After striking the aged man the driver of the car put on more power and hastened from the scene, leaving his victim dying on the roadside.

The accident occurred at 6:45 o'clock about a hundred yards west of the entrance to the Masonic Home. Mr. Choice had left the home only a few moments before to attend prayer meeting in Shelbyville. People residing near the scene were attracted by cries for help. When they reached his side he was still conscious and told them that he saw the car approaching and did his best to avoid being struck by going far off the side of the pike, but the driver seemed to be trying to pursue him. The blood on the ground marked the place where he was struck, giving mute testimony that the unfortunate man had given the automobile the entire right of way. George C. Yager, who resides nearby, took Mr. Choice to the home in his car, where Dr. Lowry Board, the home physician attended his injuries.

Calvin Wilson, a colored man employed at the home, heard the car when it struck Mr. Choice. The driver was only a few hundred yards ahead of Mr. Choice on his way to town. His attention was attracted to the car, a Ford coupelet, by reason of the zigzag course it was pursuing. He says it ran from side to side of the road, but he managed to escape being hit by getting behind a telephone pole far off the road. He heard the impact when the car struck Mr. Choice, but did not go back to the scene as he thought the machine had probably struck a fence or pole and believing the driver was drunk, decided to keep on to town.

When the driver of the car neared Paducah he ran into an automobile belonging to Mrs. J. R. Jennings, which was parked on the road in front of her residence. Attracted by the crash Mrs. Jennings and others went to the scene and found her car considerably damaged. It was plain to see that the driver was intoxicated. He paid $15 in cash to repair the damage to Mrs. Jennings' car and stated that he was a cousin of a high state official at Frankfort. About this time Mr. Leonard Gibbs and others came up and advised the man not to attempt driving on to Frankfort. He laughed at their warnings and after displaying a quart of whisky, drove off following the same zigzag, wobbly course. Before reaching Frankfort he collided head-on with a telephone pole and damaged his car so badly that a service truck had to be called from Frankfort to tow the machine in. Mr. Gibbs and others took down the number of the car. As soon as the number of the car was learned it was traced and the name and residence of the owner was secured. The matter was then placed before the grand jury, which is now in session. An indictment will likely result when the identity of the driver will be made public and a warrant issued for his arrest.

Mr. Choice is 75 years of age and was admitted to the home in 1911 from Lone Oak Lodge, No. 821, in McCracken county. The body was shipped to Paducah for burial.

JACKSON DEFENDING FORMER MADISON MAN

Attorney O. P. Jackson is in Mt. Sterling this week to assist in the defense of Verne Jones, formerly of this county, who is charged with the murder of Woodson Henry, in that city last October. Wednesday morning was given over to securing a jury and few of the witnesses were examined.

The weapon with which young Henry was killed was exhibited to the jury. Henry's widow and two young children and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henry, were present, as were a number of relatives of the man on trial. Assisting Commonwealth's Attorney C. C. Hamilton in the prosecution, are W. R. White and Judge Robt. Winn. The defense is represented by C. D. Grubbs, C. W. Nesbitt, and Mr. Jackson. Mrs. Jones, alleged to be involved in the case, was not in court.

DIES IN GARRARD
Lexington, Ky., Feb. 3.—Tobias Leavell, one of Lancaster's oldest citizens, and for 50 years identified with the business interests of the town until he retired a few years ago, was found dead in bed when called for breakfast. DAWES DEFENDS GLORY OF ARMY

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 3.—Turning sharply upon the House Investigating Committee as a whole, Charles G. Dawes, former head of the army supply procurement service in France, old one committee today that the value of their work was rendered useless through the injection of partisan politics.

"I bitterly resent the effort to reflect upon the entire army because some poor devil blundered in Switzerland," he shouted. "You cannot put a blotch on the army. What the hell did we go in for—to steal money? This was not a republican or a democratic war. It was an American war and yet as a rule these committees try to bring in partisan politics."

Asked about grafters who followed the American army to France, Dawes said: "Yes they were there. Some of the most despicable characters on earth trying to help the army by selling it things it needed at exorbitant figures. There was one man we caught and deported. He was a traitor and I wish I could have shot him. Long after this committee is dead and gone," he added, "the achievements of the American army will stand in an everlasting blaze of glory. You have tried to make a mountain out of a mole hill, but, thank God, the army was American, not republican or democratic."

DEEDS FILED FOR MANY BIG FARMS

First of Year Sees Host of Real Estate Transfers Lodged For Record

With the first of the year deeds by the dozen and then some have been pouring into the office of County Clerk J. W. Maupin. He and his capable assistants have been kept mighty busy. Real estate transfers in the county generally provide for possession on January 1st, and that is when the deeds begin to appear.

Below is given a list of those filed for record since last report, the list including transfer papers for some of the big farm sales that have been made in this county during the past year:

Younger Norris to G. L. Edwards, 58 acres for $6,000.

J. W. Stewart to Wm. Browning, 38.77 acres for $3,644.75.

S. D. Sanders to C. A. Best, 9 1-10

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING OF LIVE STOCK HELPS

(By Associated Press)
Lexington, Ky., Feb. 3.—The co-operative marketing of live stock has become a very important feature of the live stock industry in the middle western states, but is still in its infancy in Kentucky, according to D. C. Card, market specialist at the State College of Agriculture, who today spoke on the subject before farmers attending the Ninth annual "Farm and Home" convention in session here. His subject was "Co-operative Live-stock Shipping Associations." Mr. Card gave a detailed account of the way co-operative shipments of live stock were handled at the stockyard and at home and pointed out the advantages to be gained by this form of organization.

The county road leading east from Panola is in a very bad condition, being almost impassable, and the correspondents fears the candidates at the November election will receive but few votes in this community unless they are strong advocates for better roads.

WINNES JURY IS STILL DEADLOCKED

(By Associated Press)

Harlan, Ky., Feb. 3.—The case of Dr. H. C. Winnes charged with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, today had apparently resolved itself into an endurance contest between Circuit Judge Davis and the jury. The case at noon had been in the hands of the jury 62 hours and reports to the Judge said the jurors believed there is no chance to an agreement. The Judge this morning said he is determined a verdict should be reached.

Inside the jury room is being staged a contest of wills even more determined than that of the rival attorneys during the trial of Dr. Winnes as the slayer of Miss Lura Parsons. It is the struggle of eleven wills against a twelfth. The twelfth has stood firm.

A gray haired mountaineer shaking his head time and again as he is surrounded by eleven, arguing, gesticulating men. That is the mental picture one draws.

For the reports persist that in the little jury room the old mountaineer whose eyes were dimmed with tears throughout the argument of the case, is the barrier between Dr. Winnes and freedom.

How well the attorneys designed this probability is proved by the thought that it was this juror whom they addressed almost directly in their pleadings of the case.

Sounds of almost unbroken argument still floated through the thin walls of the jury chamber when court was adjourned last night.

"I am not worried," Dr. Winnes said. "The only thing to do is to take it cool and easy."

"What I dislike is inactivity. I always like to be doing something." The veterinarian seemed a different man today. The suspense did not seem so heavy a burden. He talked much and seemed unconcerned.

"A second trial would impose an almost unbearable hardship on him," said D. C. Jones, one of his attorneys. "As long as he is under this charge he will not return to work for the state, and he has to work for a living."

TO REFUND MONEY FOR LANCASTER PIKE

Private Subscriptions Won't Be Kept As Nucleus For State-Aid Reconstruction

Notwithstanding the plea of State Road Commissioner Boggs to hold intact the funds raised by private subscription so that the pike to Paint Lick may be improved as a state aid project next year, it has been decided by several of the large contributors to distribute the fund among those who subscribed. County Judge W. K. Price is giving notice below of the plan to return the money to the subscribers. This action is taken because of the announcement that the federal government will not contribute toward the fund needed for building the permanent type of road. Judge Price attaches the formal notice from Mr. Boggs regarding the matter to his announcement regarding the refund, which is as follows:

From Judge Price
An Announcement to the Citizens of Madison County:

We regret very much to be forced to announce to the public that the Federal Highway project from Hardyville to Richmond has been abandoned by the Federal Government. The letter published in this issue received from the State Highway Engineer at Frankfort, is self-explanatory. The Fiscal Court of Madison county at its regular term on last Tuesday past an order to refund all private subscriptions that have been paid in to the contributors.

After this week, or after the 5th of February, all those who have paid their subscriptions can receive check for same with 4 per cent interest from date of deposit, by calling at the State Bank & Trust Company.

We regret very much that this road project has fallen through but we feel that it is no fault of the State Highway Engineer, or the Fiscal Court of Madison county.

Respt.,
W. K. PRICE,
County Judge of Madison.

From Mr. Boggs
To the County Judges and Fiscal Courts of Madison, Garrard, Boyle, Marion, Taylor, Green, and Hart Counties:

Gentlemen:
I regret to advise you that the District Engineer of the United States Department of Agriculture was at this office on yesterday and after giving careful consideration to the proposed Federal Highway from Richmond to Hardyville has refused to recommend same to the Bureau of Public Roads for approval. You are therefore, at liberty to release your county appropriations and private subscriptions, unless you care to consider this project as for the donations that you have made to be submitted to the State Highway Commission for consideration in the construction of this primary State highway, and as I do not believe any further effort will assist in any way toward securing Federal approval.

The main reason for this disapproval on the part of the District Engineer is the fact that this proposed highway is parallel to a project heretofore approved by the Federal Government which passes through Fayette, Jessamine, Mercer and Washington counties and on which construction between Harrodsburg and the Fayette county line was started more than a year ago.

Very truly yours,

JOE S. BOGGS,

State Highway Engineer.

CONLEY CONGLETON DIES IN LOUISVILLE

Popular Young Farmer Succumb To Mysterious Malady Called "Sleeping Sickness"

News comes from Louisville that Conley Congleton passed away at the hospital there the 9:18 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Congleton had been taken to Louisville with what was thought to be "sleeping sickness" several days ago. He failed to rally, and physicians seemed unable to do anything to relieve the sufferings of the popular young farmer.

With him when the end came was his wife, who was Mary Allman, daughter of Councilman John Allman, of this city, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Congleton, of Fayette county, and other near relatives and friends. His wife and two little children survive, and all have the unbounded sympathy of a host of loved ones in this dark hour.

The deceased was about 30 years old and was popular with all who knew him, manly, upright, a fine business man and of splendid traits of character.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

FRUIT GROWERS NOT ON TO JOE

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 3.—Speaking before a meeting of the Kentucky Horticultural Society here Wednesday, W. H. Stites, Henderson, president of the society, declared that Kentucky growers would have to practice better methods of production, packing and marketing if they were to place themselves on equal footing with growers from other states in the production of horticultural products. In citing as an example of his point, Mr. Stites said that "in 1917 Kentucky at Illinois had an equal crop of 6,000,000 bushels of apples. Kentucky marketed 6 per cent of her crop for $550,000, whereas Illinois marketed 70 per cent of hers for $4,500,000."

Mr. Stites outlined the policies of the reorganized Horticultural Society and spoke of the possibilities of fruit growing in the state. He declared that few investments yielded a better revenue than a properly cared for orchard producing high-grade fruits. In conclusion, he said: "Co-operating with the extension service of the State Experiment Station, it is the aim of the Kentucky Horticultural Society to encourage the planting of more orchards in the state and to advocate the use of such methods as will enable the fruit growers to produce fruit of better quality and greater uniformity of grade and pack so the purchaser will know when he buys Kentucky fruit he is getting the best that the world produces."

CAMPAIGN TO WIN MOVIE MACHINE

All educators are coming to realize the importance of the moving-picture show as a means of education. Splendid pictures are being prepared and are now on sale which will do much to vitalize geography, history, physiology and civics in the grades, and literature, history, science and art in the High school. Educators have come to believe those things which come to the child through the eye-gate make more lasting impressions than those things which come through the ear-gate. For this reason the moving-picture show is playing a large part in the modern scheme of education. Many schools are installing show equipment, which of course has as its main feature instruction rather than entertainment.

SO WEAK SO NERVOUS

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and could not do my work. My trouble was due to deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. F. PHILLIPS, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates both husband and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter clearly shows that no other remedy is so successful in overcoming this condition as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

IN THE MOVIES

To lovers of excitement and adventure, "The Coast of Opportunity" starring J. Warren Kerrigan, tonight at the Opera House, will offer entertainment of a very satisfying quality.
The story centers around Dick Bristow, a young mining engineer, who has been left a copper claim in Mexico. The mine surrounding his claim is controlled by Julian Marr, a big railway magnate, who suspects the value of the property and hires a band of Mexicans to kidnap the engineer and hold him a prisoner until the option expires. Bristow eludes his captors on the last day of the option, rides to town and, with the aid of a resourceful girl, forces Marr to complete the bargain.

"Handsome Jack" Kerrigan is seen to advantage as the lovable Dick Bristow.

Is there such a thing as an innocent lie? Are some lies harmless? Does it pay to make any sort of a compromise with the truth?

Most people assume a highly virtuous air when asked these questions, and intimate that, as far as they are concerned, the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth has rigorously dominated their lives. But this pretension deceives no one.

Becky Warder was one of those women who, brought up in an atmosphere of artificialities, grew up with the idea that telling the truth was an extremely uninviting procedure. Her romantic soul rebelled at the crudity of straightforwardness. Accordingly, she spun from the glistening strands of her imagination little white lies that sped forth harmlessly into her world, fluttered prettily and vanished.
That is—she thought they vanished.
As a matter of fact, each little lie had a string concealed in its tail, and the day came when they all rose from their hidden places and turned upon Becky, with the direst of consequences. The whole of this absorbing story is unfolded in a delightful photoplay "The Truth" made from Clyde Fitch's greatest play, with Madge Kennedy in the star role. It will be shown here Friday.

Many persons can look at a beautiful landscape and see nothing but scrappy trees, a waste of blue sky and a patch of water that they know is wet and possibly, if one looked closely, dirty; while another sees in the same landscape all the wonders of the universe, the tender touches of the master of art and a glory of color and beauty that holds them spellbound. It is all a matter of viewpoint.

In "The Point of View," which will be shown at the local theatres Saturday, starring Elaine Hammerstein, Marjory Thomsroft, looks at life thru glasses of false pride. The softer and finer things of life were overlooked in the effort to keep up a social front, until a rough Western tears the glasses from her eyes and shows her

COMBINE THRIFT AND RELIGION TO SUCCEED IN LIFE

EDITOR IN GREAT WESTERN NEWSPAPER PREACHES COMMON SENSE SERMON.

WILL MAKE HOMES HAPPY

No Room for "Reds" or Profiteers When Thrift and Golden Rule Are Universally Practiced.

The Omaha World Herald, one of the great newspapers of the middle west, has preached a sermon which might well have come from the pulpit of any denomination in America. The subject of that sermon is "Religion and Thrift," and it is based on the Thrift campaign of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department. In a recent editorial the World Herald says:

"To the young men and the young women just starting out in life, whether singly or in pairs, there can be no appeal more important, save that of religion, than that which is made by the Thrift campaign. And thrift and religion go hand-in-hand. The precepts of not the Christian religion alone, but of every religion that is worth its salt are the precepts of thrift. Thrift is the opposite pole of extravagance—of self-indulgence. And self-indulgence is the road to spiritual ruin, as it is the road to material disaster and to national ruin. It is by self-control, by self-denial, by rational sacrifice today for the sake of a more than compensating gain in the future that the will power is made strong and character is built."

"A revival of the habits of old-fashioned thrift, coupled with a revival of the steady influences of old-fashioned religion, would do more for the salvation of this country right now and for the happiness of the homes that are in it than all the politicians could do if they were all working together."

"The home whose members practice thrift intelligently and systematically on the one hand, and who on the other go to church, fear God and keep his commandments, will house neither 'reds' nor profiteers. And when the storms descend and the winds come as come they will, all unexpectedly, some fine day, that home will stand on a solid rock, though all about it are the shifting sands."

"The World-Herald urges its readers, especially those who still are young, to think seriously about the meaning of the 'Thrift campaign.' Take the question home to yourself. 'Have you ever stopped to consider what it means—TO YOU—that the majority of men and women, who live to be 65 years old, are dependent on their friends or relatives for support at that time?'"

"Have you stopped to think that, rosette as your future seems, you will probably be included in that majority when the time comes unless you start taking, now, the sure and safe and reasonable means of guarding against it? 'Do you know it is a fact proved by all human experience that there is no future that is safe, no character that is safe, unless it rests on a basis of present-day thrift?'"

"The man who spends all his money as he earns it is going to develop into a flabby sort of an individual, with a time comes that his earning capacity falls off he is going to know what poverty means. His children are going to be denied the advantages other men's children have. His home is going to be put in jeopardy."

"But if you start—now—to save fifty cents a day, or a dollar a day, everything will be different. You will acquire strength of character. You will develop foresight. You will gain the precious power—without which the gates of heaven are closed to you—of self-control. And on top of all that, in twenty years from now, when you are still young, you will have several thousand dollars that are your own. You will have them in ten years. Do you know what a few thousand dollars can be made to do in the hands of a man who has learned wisdom, who knows the worth of a dollar, who has acquired the qualities that enable him to use money wisely and well?"

"It means independence. It means the opening of the doors of Opportunity. It means success. It means a home that is happy and safe. 'Aren't such results, assured for the future, worth the sacrifice entailed by the saving of fifty cents or a dollar a day?'"

"And—looking away from yourself for a moment—do you know what you do when you save money instead of spending it for unnecessary and foolish things? You are reducing the number of men and women who have to work to produce those things. You are helping to divert their labor into other channels, into the production of necessities, the price of which must remain high as long as they are scarce."

"When you practice thrift you are serving your country, you are serving the whole human family, as well as serving yourself. And in all these you are serving God, who put you on earth for a more serious and noble purpose than to amuse yourself and gratify your appetites."

Bob Walker, Gen'l Auctioneer

DIPHTHERIA NEEDS PROMPT ATTENTION

Attention is called by the State Board of Health in an announcement issued in Louisville to the extreme importance of calling in a physician promptly whenever there is a child in the family suffering from a sore throat or who has other symptoms which indicate even the remotest possibility of his having diphtheria.

No child can die, the state board's announcement continues, if it is given plenty of anti-toxin when it first has contracted the dread disease. If there is delay in diagnosing the case, and several days elapse before treatment for diphtheria is commenced, its chances for recovery are problematical.

The average number of deaths in Kentucky for the five years from 1911 to 1915, both inclusive, was 588. In 1916 this dropped to 41, in 1917 to 313, in 1918 to 249 and in 1919 there was an increase to 352.

In 1918 Dr. L. H. South, director of the State Board of Health's laboratories, made an investigation of the 313 deaths caused by diphtheria the preceding year and found that in 9 per cent of them the fatality was due to the fact that a physician had not been called in consultation soon enough and to the fact that anti-toxin treatment had not been started until the sixth day of the child's illness. In not a single case was the fatality due to the fact that the physician attending the sufferer did not have on hand a sufficient supply of the anti-toxin to have affected a cure if he had been summoned in time.

The state board's announcement also calls attention to the fact that poverty need cause no deaths from diphtheria. The law provides that the indigent who needs diphtheria anti-toxin shall have it supplied to him at the expense of the county in which he lives. Free analysis may at all times be had from the county physician and the State Board of Health.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind, he consulted physicians. Made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. All druggists have been appointed agents for Allen-rub in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase price on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit. 'A Better School' With Your Help

Teaching methods have greatly improved during the past few years. And our school, your school, always strives to achieve the best. We can get at once the additional equipment now needed with just a little boost from you through

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

By a recent arrangement our school will receive a liberal commission on your Country Gentleman order. The drive for a School Fund is now on.

A subscription for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN brings you a full year of an unexcelled farm service. In 52 inspiring budgets of practical helpfulness it covers thoroughly every interest of the farm business and the farm home. It costs the publishers $200,000 a year to give you the kind of service that will best help you with your livestock, field crops, poultry, fruit, farm and home management—with every vital farm problem. The fiction alone would cost later at least $10.00 in book form, yet the entire cost to you is less than two pennies a week. And remember—your school profits! So just say "Yes" to the boy or girl who calls, or send your name and—

It's Easy to Rid Yourself of Battery Worries

We are willing to be judged entirely by the service we give, by our ability to help you, and to keep you free from battery troubles.

We are not geniuses. But we do our work hard, and we know our business.

You will not find any mystery here when it comes to taking care of your battery. We have studied batteries, all kinds, and know how to prevent trouble and how to get for you the longest and most satisfactory service out of your present battery, no matter what its make.

Of course our experience has shown us that some batteries, like some hearts, are stronger than others. They are capable of greater, more severe strain. Such a one is the Exide Battery, which we recommend when replacement is necessary.

For this battery, in addition to its quality, further protects you by its manufacturer's guarantee.

It Gets Worse and Worse—Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 3.—State Inspector and Examiner Henry James today announced that he has found discrepancies in the accounts of former County Clerk Thompson of McCracken county, amounting to $1,900. The previous alleged discrepancies of $4,000 are said to have been found in his accounts as trustee of the jury fund. Today's announcement relates to his account as county clerk.

To Dog Owners

I have been authorized to indict all owners of dogs who have not purchased tags for them this year, and shall do so at the next term of the Madison County Grand Jury, which convenes February 8. This order was sent me from Frankfort and I am subject to indictment if I fail to do my duty.

By securing your tags right away you may save yourself prosecution and heavy fine.

THE DIFFERENCE

"I SAW you coming up the street and standing at the gate with Mr. Honeybug and Mr. Playfair," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "All three of you were laughing so the whole neighborhood could hear you. I wonder why you do all the laughing with your friends, and do nothing but grumble and scowl at home. I haven't seen you laugh in the house in five years, as you laughed out there with those men."

"There's nothing in this house to laugh at," replied Jamesworthy.

Honeybug is a good story-teller, and he was telling us a bully yarn, and for a brief season we forgot the burdens laid upon us, which are greater than we can bear. If you could tell a story as well as Honeybug does, I'd fill these ancestral halls with silvery laughter, but you never try to say anything amusing. Mrs. Jamesworthy. You do tell stories, but they are of a gloomy and tragic character.

"Last night, when I came home, you told a dramatic story to the effect that you had callers all afternoon, and hadn't a chance to cook anything for me, and so I had to eat canned salmon and soda crackers, and wash them down with water, and I insist that when a husband comes home from his arduous labors in the changing mart, so empty that his watch chain makes a clanking sound when it flaps against his spine, he should have warm victuals, something he can consume with pleasure and pride. The fact that you had an invasion of callers is a cheap excuse."

"My sainted mother never would have permitted any callers to interfere with her management of the cook-stove. She realized that her old man kept the shebang going, and that he should have the right of way. If any old hens happened to be in the house when grub time approached, my mother would request them, firmly but respectfully, to chase themselves, and if they didn't like it they could lump it. When my father came home from his work, the hay was always in the manger for him, and he never had to wait five minutes for a meal."

"The day before yesterday, when I came staggering home, faint and weary from my herculean efforts to make both ends meet, you told me another story. It was to the effect that you had been downtown sizing up a shipment of new spring hats, just received at the millinery foundry, and you were so interested you forgot the lapse of time, and didn't get home in time to cook anything. But you flashed a winning smile at me, and said it wouldn't take you ten minutes to warm up a can of beans, and there was some cold coffee left from breakfast, and you had plenty of smoked herrings on hand."

"Doubtless I should have burst forth into boisterous laughter over this entertaining anecdote, but somehow it didn't appeal to my sense of humor. I was so busy that day I hadn't time to eat anything at noon, and all the way home I was hoping you would have a porterhouse steak about three inches thick, and a raft of boiled potatoes, and perhaps a slab of mince pie as an epilogue."

"The day before that, when I came home as hollow as a bass drum, and fairly gnashing my teeth with hunger, you related a humorous story to the effect that your club didn't adjourn on time that afternoon, and you didn't get home until late, so I would have to get along with a picked-up supper. If I would be patient a few minutes, you said, to make the story seem more spicy, you would boil an egg for me, and there was cold corn bread in the cupboard."

"Such stories, Mrs. Jamesworthy, may seem highly amusing to an innocent bystander, and I have no doubt they would make a great hit if written up and printed in London Punch, but there is something wrong with my sense of humor, or I am at the wrong end of the stories. Anyhow, I can't grieve over them as I do over Honeybug's yarns."

FIRE LADDIES SAVE W. Q. PARK'S HOME

The fire department was called to the residence of Walter Q. Park on the Jack's Creek road, Wednesday night at 10:20 o'clock the fire starting in the basement from the furnace pipes. The lower floor was filled with smoke and flames were getting under way in a pile of wood and shavings. The little house dog which slept in the upper hall awakened Mr. and Mrs. Park by an unusual amount of barking and scratching on the door of their bed room.

The fire laddies are to be highly commended for their prompt work, as they were on the scene before the nearest neighbor was before the nearest neighbor was Park for help, the telephone operator notifying the department the location of the fire.

Mr. Park says the damage will amount to probably $2,600. He had $9,000 insurance on the house and contents. He is very appreciative of the fire department's splendid work and gave the Daily Register the following statement:

Praises Richmond Fire Dep't.

Walter Q. Park wants to publicly thank individually each and every member of the fire department who so readily answered his call for help Wednesday night Mr. Park says he did not know they would respond, or even could, his home being three miles from town. He says he lived so close to such a town as Richmond with such a wide-awake and efficient fire department for had the men been 5 or 10 minutes later, the fire would have had such a headway that with the supply of water that was on hand, there would have absolutely been no chance whatever of saving his home. While he and Mrs. Park had all their clothing and practically all the furniture out of the house by the time the department arrived, the department was on hand and at work before even the nearest neighbors had arrived.

SAYS WAGE QUESTION IS SCIENTIFIC ONE

(By Associated Press)

Boston, Feb. 3.—A wage scale based on a scientific calculation of the relative efforts of capital and labor is offered as a remedy for industrial strife by former Senator George Cartwright, of California, addressing the Boston Chamber of Commerce. He asserted that raising men's wages will not do it. "They went sky high during the war," he said, "and industrial disturbances multiplied." He declared that when the "fact has filtered through the brains of capitalists of industry and labor leaders, that wages and hours are scientific questions. A tremendous stride toward industrial peace will have been made."
